

Stop Suitability

After deciding to start a doctorate, doubts may arise as to whether one is capable of succeeding. It is often unclear whether one possesses the relevant skills, characteristics and qualifications. Weighing up the relevant facts can help you make a decision.

Promotion - yes or no?

_ ask yourself the question: „Why do I need a doctorate?”

_ only begin with a topic that seems really interesting to you _ the process takes a long time & your motivation must be sustained

A doctorate begins as soon as the decision to advance has been made and is independent of:

_ whether a doctoral supervisor has been found already.

_ which regulations need to be followed.
