Textile Design - What is it all about?

At our vibrant Münchberg research campus, you will have the opportunity to help shape the future of textile design. Our unique approach brings together design, application, and technology.

You will gain interdisciplinary expertise that spans textile design, technical textiles, and sustainable production - opening doors to cutting-edge career opportunities and equipping you for a dynamic future.

In this interdisciplinary Master's program, you will dive deep into design and discover its many applications. If you have a Bachelor of Arts in textile design, product design, apparel design, interior design, architecture or a related field, this is your chance to expand your expertise: You will master the creation of complex surfaces, develop innovative textile solutions, and generate interdisciplinary solutions.

As a cross-disciplinary field, textile design offers the perfect environment to tackle challenges in functionality, eco-design, performance, and marketability - all with a future-oriented and innovative approach.

What do I gain with this M.A.?

With this Master's program, you will

- _ develop advanced skills in designing textiles and their potential applications,
- _ gain interdisciplinary knowledge in design, textile technology, sustainability, and project management,
- _ specialize in areas that match your personal interests and career goals.

In addition, you benefit from

- _ a project-focused curriculum that emphasizes practical experience and real-world applications,
- _ access to a vibrant research environment at campus Münchberg with cutting-edge facilities,
- _ strong connections to the professional world, opening up valuable networking and career opportunities.

What are the prerequisites?

Academic requirements

Successfully completed Bachelor of Arts in Design or Architecture from an accredited university, min. 210 credits (ECTS); minimum grade 2,5 according to the German grading system.

Applicants with less than 210 credits (ECTS) will be accepted, but will have to earn the missing credits by completing an internship with a written report (30 ECTS) before starting their studies at Hof University.

Program-specific aptitude

Your aptitude for the program will be evaluated through a two-step process conducted by the course lecturers. In the first step, you will submit a self-written project proposal in English for a potential design project, along with a digital portfolio containing 7 to 12 original work samples that demonstrate your artistic skills and suitability for the program.

In the second step, you will participate in a 30-minute oral examination in English, where you will present your project proposal and portfolio and answer related questions.

Language requirements

Proficiency in English, proven by either

- _ TOEFL minimum 90
- _ IELTS 6.5 or above

Basic language skills in German, proven by official test score documents (e.g. Goethe, telc, ÖSD) - minimum level A1 according to the CEFR (The Common European Framework of Reference for Languages).
